People who work in fields related to human resource, sales, marketing, training, learning, communication, and similar fields will find. It is easy to enter the training field using many of the skills they already possess. This includes:

- Corporate trainers
- Human Resource Practitioners
- Life and business coaches
- Consultants, authors and speakers
- Line Managers
- Communicators
- Entrepreneurs
- HR based businesses

How Much Money Do I Need to Start a Training Business as a Premium Reseller?

This again varies by a number of factors. Start up costs ranges from USD 2,000 – USD 15,000.

You may want to consider an office for your business. You may choose from an offsite shop lot which is rentals are quite reasonably priced. You may also need to take into account your monthly operational costs as you begin to build your business. If you choose not to have an office front, we will also allow you the use of the MiniWorkshopSeries HQ address and contact information on your name card.

The other aspect that may require significant amounts of money is the sales team that you will need to sell and market the product and services.

MiniWorkshopSeries offers you a model that makes much easier for you to start your training business. We not only provide you with a wide range of products and services to offer your clients, but a proven model of how to manage and run a successful and profitable training business.

How Do I Get Clients for My Training Business?

You will need to market your training business in order to get clients. You can do this in many ways:

- You need to print your business cards with the name of your business and contact information.
- Product and Service Familiarization: make sure you take the time to train your sales team and yourself on the features, benefits, advantages, etc.
- Lead Generation Strategy: MWS team will work closely with you on your lead generation strategy and identify the hot industry sectors you can work on
- Hot Contacts: Start always with your hot contacts, list down all the people you know in the industry.
- Referrals: ensure that you get referrals from your clients and friends
- You can join local business and social communities and groups and inform them of your services,
- Contact all businesses within 100 miles and make them aware of your new business and what you offer.
- Internet Presence: MiniWorkshopSeries website will post your profile. You don't really need to have a separate web site to start your training business. But if you want to do that it is one more way to show your professionalism. However, you don't have to worry about a web site the first day you are in business.
- Exhibitions: You may consider establishing yourself by joining trade exhibitions.
- You may use direct marketing to reach local businesses with a letter and a brochure. This might be costly and you will need to follow up to be effective.
- You should take advantage of the free marketing potential offered by new web 2.0 technologies, particularly social network platforms such as LinkedIn, Facebook, Twitter, and others. LinkedIn is the most respected professional network used by many business people. Add your profile there and start connecting to people, join groups, and keep updating them on what you do
